

What is Mediation?

Mediation is a transformative process aimed at resolving conflict and disputes outside of the courtroom. It involves a neutral third party, the mediator, who facilitates discussions between conflicting parties to help them reach mutually beneficial agreements.

Unlike traditional litigation, mediation empowers Individuals to maintain control over the outcome of their dispute, creating a sense of ownership and collaboration.

Confidentiality and privacy are the cornerstone of an effective mediation process, as this creates a safe and non-adversarial environment which encourages open communication. Each party is encouraged and supported to express their perspectives, concerns, and views. Confidentiality is always maintained by the mediator, and a mediator will never share your information with the other party without your explicit permission.

By carefully listening to and understanding each parties' issues, the mediator can find areas of common ground and agreement that may have been overlooked. The mediator can then help guide the parties towards mutually beneficial solutions.

Through creating a safe, confidential environment, we ensure you are respected and feel heard throughout each step of the process.
